PRODUCT DESCRIPTION :

It is a high quality repair resin for laminated windshields. In addition to the special repair resin this package also includes a specially designed injector.

Windscreen Repair Resin has excellent flow properties allowing the product to be perfect in the smallest foothills of the repair area. Because of its unique composition, it has a very strong connection and it is permanent transparent.

The repair resin is packed in a special vial with a very precise metering opening.

Additionally the contents matches to a number of repairs, through which one is always able to repair with a full and fresh product.

The packaging is on the inside provided with a UV-resistant film through which the repair resin remains a long period of high quality.

Next to the Windscreen Repair Resin an injector is provided in each package.

This injector is constructed in such a way so that the repair resin may be applied in one motion without an external vacuum pump and the air can be removed from the repair area.

All these features ensure that the repair can be easily and accurately performed with the Windscreen Repair Resin and the special injector.
